

South Dakota State Library state government publications program

The SD State Library provides online access to electronic versions of South Dakota state government publications, as well as paper copies. The South Dakota state statutes addressing the gathering of materials by the SD State Library can be found in Chapter 14-1A-3.

The Administrative Rules defining the number of copies state agencies should send to the state library can be found at: legis.state.sd.us.

The SD State Agency Historical Publications Collection is a special online collection of historical state agency publications. The SD State Library has state publications that date back to territorial days. In order to preserve these materials and make them easier for the general public to access and study, digitized copies are made available in this collection.
