LOUD LIBRARIANS LEAD! May 2022: Building Partnerships

Building Partnerships

Cara Perrion, the Assistant Library Director/Community Services Librarian from K.O. Lee Aberdeen Public Library, joins Laura Kelly in the latest Loud Librarians Lead! Vlog in sharing knowledge and experiences related to building successful partnerships. Cara describes her role as community services librarian and shares successful outreach examples.

Cara Perrion shares, "I am originally from a small town in South Dakota. I spent five years in my 20s living in the South, but I found myself homesick for the upper plains and came back to South Dakota. I started working at the Aberdeen Public Library part-time in reference, and when a full-time position opened up in circulation just as I was graduating from NSU, I decided to take it for a year or so. Well, that was 24 years ago and here I am. I guess time really does fly when you're having fun. I love knowing that through the library, I am making the world a better place every day. I earned my Masters in Library and Information Science from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in 2013."
